

Oliver Wyman – Services to Friendly Societies

Oliver Wyman is ideally suited to providing Friendly Societies with all of your actuarial support and being more than just a number cruncher. We feel our role is to help and support individual Societies, working in partnership as business advisers, rather than merely being a provider of core actuarial functions.

Our actuarial services take a straightforward yet flexible approach which serves to enhance our proposition to clients:

- We are a world leader in financial services strategy and risk management consulting
- We can tap into the complementary capabilities of our sister companies, for example, Mercer and Marsh
- Our actuarial team has a wealth of experience in advising Friendly Societies over many years and across many areas from regulatory functions to product development and M&A
- Industry leading advice and know how is available to all of our clients whether large or small

We work regularly with some of the world's largest insurance groups and have developed an approach for rolling out leading industry practices to domestic players. Whether you require us to develop a cross company approach to meeting the requirements of Solvency 2 or just need help with some actuarial modelling or pricing, we can help you.
